

Spanish 1-2, "Para empezar" Weather Project

¿Qué tiempo hace hoy en . . . ?

1. Look for an online map of the Spanish speaking country you were assigned with 3 major cities on it. (10 points)
2. Find the name of the country and 3-4 major cities in Spanish. Find what the weather is like there now in the north, south, east, west, northwest, etc.
3. With both map and weather forecast, write the 1st draft of a weather report in Spanish. Use the vocabulary and the model provided below. (10 points if double-spaced and complete)
4. When you finish the first draft, ask two students in class to peer correct your 1st draft. (5 points each of 2 names at the bottom of your 1st draft and peer corrections on your 1st draft).
5. Write a 2nd draft incorporating the corrections suggested by your peers and turn it in to your teacher for help. (10 points for the 2nd draft if it is double-spaced and complete)
6. Now use the template on SchoolLoop to type your project. Include a map of your country, a title (El tiempo en your country) and the weather. Then type, single-space, your forecast using 12 point Arial. (10 points each for the writing part of the final project and a country map.

VOCABULARY

• Cardinal points in Spanish

• More vocabulary

- Está nublado (It's cloudy).

- A little with clouds and precipitation

- Está un poco nublado (It's a little cloudy). Use un poco with nublado. Notice that it goes in front. With precipitation un poco goes behind the llueve and nieva (Llueve un poco en Roma.)

- A little with hot and cold-> un poco de

- Hace un poco de calor. (It's a little hot.) Hace un poco de frío.

- Very

- Hace mucho frío.

- Place names

- Las montañas
- Las playas

MODELTEXT

El tiempo en Italia

En el norte de Italia, en Florencia, hace frío y nieva en las montañas. En el sur hace buen tiempo en las playas. En Palermo, Sicilia, hace un poco de calor y está un poco nublado. En Roma hace sol y hace fresco.